

What to Bring

The Washington Center will provide lodging, parking passes, most meals, meeting spaces, resource faculty, plenary speakers, sessions, workshops, information resources, a unique action plan template, a framework to think about your work, and some supplies.

Here is what you should bring:

An electronic device

Institute information and materials will be shared and delivered electronically. This includes concurrent session descriptions, handouts, action plan feedback and institute evaluations. A laptop or tablet will allow each participant access important materials and information. If you do not have access to a laptop or tablet, please let us know.

Pen and paper

The Washington Center will provide some extra pads of paper and pens, but it might be useful to bring your own pen and paper, if you like to jot down notes or ideas.

Clothes

Summer is fickle in the Pacific Northwest—it's hard to predict from one day to the next whether it will be cool and rainy, or warm and sunny. Typically in July, you can expect cool mornings and evenings with hot weather while the sun is out. However, always be prepared for it to rain. The institute dress code is casual. You'll definitely want comfortable shoes. You'll also want to pack for a range of temperatures inside and outside.

Water bottle

Evergreen does not sell bottled plastic water. There are limited amounts of bottled water in glass containers for purchase in the Evergreen bookstore. A water bottle will be useful for bringing with to session, and for having at the dorms.

Toiletries

The apartment style dorms are sparse. You will need to bring your own shampoo, body soap, toothbrush and toothpaste, washcloths, hairdryer, and any other toiletries that will make your stay more comfortable.

Extra supplies (optional)

The following is a list of optional items you may choose to bring to make your stay more comfortable. This list was created based off of feedback from past teams.

- An extra pillow
- An extra large towel
- A reading light
- A small flashlight
- An umbrella
- Mosquito repellent
- Hiking shoes (for taking a walk in the forest)
- Travel coffee mug
- First aid travel kit (tylenol, band aids, etc)
